ABOUT NEPAL

Nepal officially the Democratic Republic of Nepal, is a landlocked sovereign state located in South Asia. The mountainous north of Nepal has eight of the world's ten tallest mountains. Nepal is the only country in the world with triangular flag.

GEOGRAPHY

Nepal is a land locked country. It lies on the lap of the highest mountain of Himalaya between India and China. Therefore, Nepal traditionally has been characterized as "a yam caught between two rocks." Nepal shares a border with India in the west, south and east and with the Tibetan Autonomous Region of China in the north. Kanchan Kalan in Jhapa district is the lowest point at 70m above sea level and the summit of Mt. Everest at 8,848 m is the highest.

AREA & TOPOGRAPHY

Nepal extends from east to west 885 km and approximately 193 km from north to south in rectangular shape with total land area of 147,181 sq. km. Geographically, Nepal can be divided into 3 ecological zones. Upper Himalaya, Middle Hills or Lower Himalaya and Terai Region. The southern belt of the country is flat with fertile land and forest called Terai.
